This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. PREFACE.

Bradford's, Bancroft's, Lee's, Freeman's and Strykers Histories as well as the "Sinnott, Rogers, Coffin, etc., Family Histories", also files of Friends Meetings and Mount Holly Court House Records, and the "Ancestry of the Haines and other Families", were the sources of information in compiling this little history of New Jersey Colonists which is as nearly accurate and complete as the records make possible and will help to perpetuate the fortitude and stoicism of these colonists, as well as the assistance, these families have rendered this country in its building and growth.

With thanks to Henry Shinn of Mount Holly for his inspiration and to my husband and sister Charlotte for material assistance.

DAKOTA R. BALDRY,

Chapter I.

THE HAINES FAMLY.

The History of the Haines family of N. J. was compiled by Richard Haines of Medford and like the data of the Haines family in the Anson Phelps Stokes Record follows the fortunes of the different branches from William the Conqueror to the present time. This Coat of Arms or seal was conferred upon Nicholas Haynes of Hackney in 1578. Literally translated the motto reads "With sails and with oars:" freely—"With might and main." Hayne Castle descended to an only daughter, Tameson Haines, in 1600 and remained in the family until 1870. Col. John Haynes born at Coddicott, Hertford, England, left his sons, Robert and Hezikiah, at his splendid estate "Copford Hall" in Essex when he sailed for America on "The Griffin" in 1633 with 160 head of cattle, 8,000 pounds in money and a yearly income of 1,000 pounds to establish with Hooker and other English settlers the Colony of Connecticut—then a wilderness. He became the third Governor of Massachusetts Bay Colony and in 1639 the first Governor of Connecticut, to which office he was elected every alternate year until his death at Hartford in 1654. His first wife was Mary Thornton. He married as his second wife

The Gov. Haynes' Mansion was on corner of Front and Arch Street, Hartford.

Mabel Harlakenden, the daughter of Richard. She came to America in 1635 on the ship "Defence" with her brother, Lieut. Colonel Roger Harlakenden. She was born 9-27-1614 and was a descendant of Edward III, 1312, and the Dukes of Gloucester, Stafford and Westmoreland. This painting was made at her father's famous country seat, Earls Colne, Essex, England, a haunt of Cromwell and Richard Baxter. It shows her with fair hair, in a brown frock trimmed with red and grey, wearing a necklace of pearls. This couple, greatly beloved by the colonists, had five children. In all Gov. Haines had eight children. Ruth married Samuel Wyllys of Hartford, Mary married Jos. Cook in England, Mabel maried Judge James Russell of Charlestown, Massachusetts. Hezikiah, Robert and Mary were children by Gov. Haines' first wife.

Joseph who graduated from Harvard in 1658 became Pastor of First Church on Gold Street in Hartford, where Olivia and Caroline Stokes have erected memorial gates to his illustrious father. Copford Hall descended to General Hezikiah and Robert died. There was also a son, Roger.

Now we come to John and his descendants, known from his beautiful letters to "cousin" Fitzjohn Winthrop, by whom he was nursed through small pox. He graduated from Harvard University in 1656 and returned to England where he took his M.A. at Cambridge. He became a minister at Colchester and married Hanna. He was vicar of Stanaway near Copford Hall. His will was signed in Sept., 1670. Following his great grandfather's example, the next John sailed for America and lived the first winter in a cave on Rancocas Creek, near Lumberton, Burlington County, N. J. Haines port is named for this early pioneer. He was followed by his father and mother, Richard and Margaret, who sailed from Northamptonshire on 4-23-1682 on the ship "Amity" landing at Burlington with their five other children, Richard, William, Thomas, Mary and Joseph. See Morant's History of Essex on Rev. John, also Mass. Historical Society Proceedings. This branch descended from William.

See Memoirs of American Governors by J. B. Moore and Governors of Connecticut by Morton. Also Paige's History of Cambridge.

Daniel Haines was the 15th and 17th Governor of N. J., from 1843-7.

For picture of Copford Hall see Stokes Record.

For Rev. John Haynes will see New Eng. Hist. Genea. Register.

Nathan Haines took an active part in the American Revolution. His tombstone is south of the place where the old Coles Church stood, in Colestown Cemetery, in Evesham, Burlington Co., N. J. Nathan raised a company of soldiers for the Revolution. He was opposed to war as at variance with his Quaker principles but his wife Dorcas Pendergrast of the West Indies, convinced him that a man of his wealth should use it and his influence for his country. He raised a small army and set out for Perth Amboy, N. J. A parrot on the way called to him "Quaker, quaker, fighting quaker," as he still wore the quaker garb. He was captured by the British at Haddenfield but later released. When he returned his home had been plundered and his cattle driven off. From Wm. Lippincott's paper "The Moorestown Republican," Moorestown, N. J. 1911. Aaron L. Haines and Thomas Haines of Burlington Co. were also in the Continental Army. See Strykers Officers and Men of N. J. in the American Revolution. The Haines family were Orthodox Quakers. Barclay Haines built and navigated the first steamboat on the Delaware River.

Chapter II.

THE ROGERS FAMILY.

Bradfords history tells of the arrival on the Mayflower in 1620 at Plymouth, Mass. of Thomas Rogers and his son Joseph. The other children and the wife of Thomas followed a year later. Thomas died in the first sickness. Joseph married and had six children, Sarah, Joseph, Thomas, Elizabeth, John, Mary, James and Hanna. He died at Eastham, Mass., in 1678. John was appointed administrator for Thomas's estate. Freeman's history of Cape Cod gives the history of John's family. He signed an instrument for lot 32 at Burlington, N. J. on Sept. 9th, 1727 and his son, William was given a commission as Lieutenant in the British Army in America by Viscount Cornbury Feb. 4th, 1705 at Fort Anne N. Y. It was his grandson Wm. Rogers III who was the Revolutionary hero of the Rogers line. He was an express rider, and despatch bearer in the war. Although he was a a Quaker he gave bountifully of his time and money to the cause of American liberty. He thwarted the attempt of the Hessian soldiers to destroy his grist mill which stood on his plantation between Mount Holly and Rancocas, N. J., bordered on the front by the shell road and at the back by Rancocas Creek. The place is now known as the McIlvaine Farm. Here were also his distillery for apple-jack and cherry bounce and the factory for making cement from oyster shells. The manor house built from bricks brought as ballast in the ships from England bore on its side elevation these letters and the date picked out in a different shade of brick:

W. & M. R 1769	William and Martha Rogers. It was destroyed by fire about 1900. Here we have the complete Rogers line.

Thomas Rogers' name appears as a signer of the compact on the Mayflower Nov. 11, 1620. His son,

Lieut. Joseph, died at Eastham, Mass., 1678, his son,

John Rogers signed deed at Burlington, N. J., Sept. 9th, 1727, he died 1738. His son,

Lieut. Wm. Rogers, British Army in America, 1705, his son,

THE AUSTIN FAMILY.

The Austin motto "God Rules" was brought with their arms from England in 1688. They are said to be the first family to introduce the Quaker religion in America.

Johnathan Loring Austin an American revolutionary patriot was sent to Paris in 1777 with despatches for Benjamin Franklin announcing the surrender of General Burgoyne. He remained to become his secretary.

Moses Austin the Texas pioneer obtained permission from the Mexican government to establish a colony of 300 Americans. His son Stephen founded Austin, Texas in 1821 and secured recognition of Texas as a State.

The founders of the family in America were Francis Austin and his sister Elizabeth. Francis Austin married Mary Borton, 1696 after whom Borton's Landing, Burlington County, N. J., is named.

Cornelius Austin was an Armor bearer in the American Revolution. See Strykers New Jersey History.

Johnathan Austin, son of Francis and Mary Borton married Rebecca Mason after whose family Masonville, N. J., is named. Their son Johnathan Austin married Elizabeth Butterworth; and their son Nathan married Beulah Rogers, Sept. 4th 1828. Their children are given in the chapter on the Haines family and include Lydia Ann Austin who married Wm. Pancoast Taylor, Oct. 31st, 1852. They had three daughters:

1. Sarah Taylor Hunt,
2. Susanah Taylor Reich, and
3. Grace Taylor Garland.

Chapter IV.

THE TAYLOR FAMILY

The Taylors, Garwoods, Austins, Rogers and Haines who settled Burlington County may rightfully be classified with the first families of New Jersey.

The forefather of the American Taylors was Samuel, who sailed in 1677 on the boat Martha of Burlington, Yorkshire, England and arrived with 114 passengers at Burlington, N. J., on the Delaware. He was born in County Derby, England, in 1633 and his will was filed in Burlington, N. J., Nov. 26th, 1723.

Among the Taylors who have distinguished themselves in American history was Zachary, the son of Richard, who became the 12th President of the United States in 1849 after a successful military career. His son Dick was a Conferate General and a member of the Secession Convention of Louisiana.

The Burlington County, N. J. Taylors, in the list of soldiers of the American Revolution, are Jacob, John A. and Thomas in the Army and Capt. Taylor who manned the boat Mars on the Delaware in the Navy. See Strykers.

Thomas Taylor, a son of Nathan Taylor and Susannah Garwood fought for the Union and died of disease in the Civil War.

The children of Samuel Taylor, the forefather, born between 1695-1705 were John, George, William and Robert.

John's children were John, Joseph, Robert, Charles, Samuel and William.

Joseph's son was David, and his son Thomas had two sons Nathan and Samuel.

Nathan Taylor married Susan Garwood, Sept. 25th 1831, in Mount Holly, N. J. Their children were:

Wm. Pancoast Taylor	M	Lydia A. Austin
Sarah Ann	M	Andrew Dennis
Lewis	M	Mary Green
Thomas	M	Mary Barry
Mary Jane	M	Wm. Barker

THE GARWOOD FAMILY.

The progenitors of the Garwood family in America were Thomas and his wife Margaret. When they came from England in 1690 they settled in Evesham. The town of Garwood, N. J. is named for these early settlers. Their children were William, John, Daniel, Thomas, Isaiah, Mary, Sarah, Elizabeth, Ann and Esther.

Daniel married Susannah Collins their son Japeth married Hannah Haines. The children of their son Israel were Thomas, William, Samuel, Elizabeth and Mary.

William Garwood married Nancy Felton, March 31st, 1814, at Mount Holly, N. J. Their daughter Susan Garwood married Nathan Taylor Sept. 25th, 1831. Their children were:

Wm. Pancoast Taylor	M	Lydia Ann Austin Oct. 31,1852
Sarah Ann Taylor	M	Andrew Dennis
Lewis Taylor	M	Mary Green
Mary Jane Taylor	M	Wm. Barker
Thomas Taylor	M	Mary Barry

Thomas Taylor fought in and died from disease contracted in the Civil War.

Wm. P. Taylor and Lydia Austin Taylors children were: 1. Sarah Taylor Hunt, 2. Susanna Taylor Reich, and 3. Grace Taylor Garland.

Samuel Garwood fought with Capt. Hollinshead's Company in the American Revolution. The Garwoods were Quakers and the old stone manor "Shadow Lawn" still stands on the banks of the Delaware at Edgewater, New Jersey.

Chapter VI.

THE REICH FAMILY.

From the far away Carpathian Mountains with its picturesque castles, its ancient nobles, monasteries and legends, this artistic Hungarian family brought to America its Catholic traditions and lofty idealism. The name was originally Rik and like the word rex meant ruler or power. Ladislaus Rik or Reich married Maria Furár, a nobleman's daughter in Premzl, Galicia. Their son Stephen married Melanie Ujlaky. Their son Janos married Charlotte Frangenpan. They settled in Kaschau, Hungary, with their son, Lajos. The children of Lajos and Amalia Reich were Jennie Rosalie, Otto Samuel, Emil, and Melanie Atelka.

Otto Reich contributed the first sum of money to found a Roman Catholic Church at Wyoming, Hamilton County, Ohio, and obtained a ruling from the House of Representatives to allow the colored children to share the Public Schools in that State.

He married Susannah Garwood Taylor, the daughter of Wm. P. and Lydia Austin Taylor at Columbus, Ohio, January 28th, 1876. They had two daughters Charlotte Lydia and Dakota Wenonah. Charlotte married Edward Moore Pattison, Jr. in Cincinnati, Ohio on Sept. 22nd, 1898, while the family lived at Elm Lawn, Glendale, Ohio. Dakota married Robert Edward Baldry in Brooklyn, N. Y. April 27th, 1915. E. M. Pattison, Jr., is the son of E. M. Pattison and Josephine Fisher Pattison of Price Hill, Cincinnati, Ohio, who were married Sept. 3rd, 1860.

Robert E. Baldry is the son of Mrs. Emma Engelke Baldry, widow of Alfred Baldry, married in Houston, Texas, Dec. 21, 1876. Alfred Baldry was born in England.

Dr. Emil Reich who was born March 24, 1854 in Eperjes, Hungary, is principally known as the author of Plato and the Criticism of Life, Success Among Nations, The History of Western Nations, Foundations of Modern Europe, The Failure of the Higher Criticism of the Bible, Woman, Nights with the Gods, etc. He was the International Attorney appointed to settle the Venezuelan Boundry Question for the United States and England in the Roosevelt Administration and also occupied the chair of history at Oxford University, England, where through his lectures he became the idol of English society. In his early life he toured the United States in concert, being an accomplished musician and a pupil of Liszt. He died on the eleventh of December 1910, and on his bier was laid a wreath from King George and Queen Mary of England. He was survived by his wife Celine and his daughter Yolande. His books were translated and published by his sister, Melanie in four languages from the English. She received a B. A. degree at Oxford University, England at the age of fifty.

Dakota Wenonah Reich entered upon a stage career in New York City, November 11th, 1907 and played in the following dramas: The Christian Pilgrim, Barbara Fritchie, Mistress Nell, The International Marriage, Zaza, The Girl of the Golden West, The Boys of Company B, Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall, Secret Service, Mrs. Temples Telegram, Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire, The Prince Chap, The Wife, The Prisoner of Zenda, A Little Brother of the Rich, The Warrens of Virginia, Old Heidelberg, The Blue Mouse, The College Widow, Girls, and When We Were Twenty-One.

THE HUNT FAMILY.

John Henry Hunt born in 1831, in Kuhn Hesse, Germany, came to this country in his infancy and lived most of his life in Columbus, Ohio. He married Anne Kate Volk who was born in Darmstadt, Germany, and lived there until she was eighteen. Their son Charles Henry Hunt born in Decatur, Ill., married Sarah L. Taylor, May 1st, 1878, at Columbus, Ohio. They lived on their plantation north of Columbus near Powel, Ohio, where part of their family was born. The family then sought their fortune in the far West at Walla Walla, Washington, in which town they all married with the exception of:

(1) Lydia Hunt, who married John D. Groff in Worthington, Ohio, on Feb. 27, 1901. Their children are:
Kathryn Miranda Groff, and Grace Eleanor Groff.

(2) Nora L. Hunt married Edwin Reser Bryan, Oct. 12, 1902. Their children are:
William Taylor Bryan and Wilberta Nora Bryan.

(3) Charles Hunt died in infancy.

(4) Otto Hunt married Grace Martin June 19, 1906.

(5) C. Perry Hunt married Gertrude Teel Michaelis. Their children are:
Gertrude Elizabeth,
Florence Elaine,
Theodore Perry,
and Lucina Laura.

(6) Benjamin Harrison Hunt married Effie M. Anderson, June 20th, 1912. Their daughter is Genevieve Marie.

(7) Edna Beulah Hunt married John Harris Rea, Sept. 29th, 1911, their children are:

Edna Gertrude,
Harris Tremayne,
and John Hunt Rea.

(8) Carl Willis Hunt married Kathryn Reed June 3rd, 1922.

(9) Lavina Adele Hunt married L. Earl Trossbach, April 3rd, 1921, in Alexandria, Va.

(10) Sarah T. Hunt married I. Ogden Braa Sept. 18, 1920.

The Hunt family are Methodists.

Nicholas Tokolyi, the grandfather of Amalia Reich, was dean of the University of Prague. His great grandson Dr. Emil Reich received degrees from Prague, Buda Pest and Vienna Universities, and after 4 years in France and 5 in America of continual study he lectured at Oxford, Cambridge and London Universities, England. His lectures at Claridges in London drew forth so many of the royalty and nobility—many times including the queen—that his audiences were nicknamed "diamond dusted." He possessed an abnormal eloquence and a fascinating wit and was complete master of six languages. His well selected library contained an index to five million books with which he was famaliar. His book called "Germany's Swelled Head" or "Germany's Madness" was a warning and a forecast of the World War. When he died he was working on "The Birth of Christianity."

Some of his other works were: History of Civilization, Graeco-Roman Institutions, Hungarian Literature, Handbook of Geography, General History, Atlas of Ancient History, Atlas of Modern History, Principal Chapters from Great Philosophers, Fundamental Principals of Evidence, and Imperialism.

Otto Reich furnished the illustrations and placed them in the Catholic Encyclopedia, as well as placing the bishoprics on every map.

Melanie Reich, Oxford University, England; Jenny Reich, Cincinnati Normal School, Ohio; Charlotte Reich Pattison, Glendale College, Ohio; Dakota R. Baldry, Packer Collegiate Institute, Brookyn, N. Y.; Kathryn M. Groff, Ohio State University.
